4 DESTROYERS RUSHED TO SHANGHAI YOUTH KILLS BROTHER WITH SHOTGUN IN DISPUTE OVER GAMES

PARENTS AND SISTERS NEAR AS LAD SHOTS OWN BROTHER

Stockton Home is Scene
Of Tragedy; Police
Are Baffled

(By Universal Service)
STOCKTON, Feb. 23.—In a fit of childish rage over a game they were playing, an 8-year-old boy shot and instantly killed his 6-year-old brother near here today
while their playmates including two sisters fled in terror.

The dead youngster is Louis
Croze, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Frank Croze, who occupy a farm
a short distance from here. His brother, John, 8, accused of the slaying, was taken to the detention home.

The discussion which resulted in the death of Louis was over a proposed ball game in which John is alleged to have declared Louis was too young to play.

Enraged at the following discussion, John, according to his playmates, ran into the house and secured a shotgun. He ordered the children on the back porch to throw up their hands. All ran except Louis, who refused to obey
the command, and John fired point blank.

Future Rests In Development Of Cities: Savant

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—"The future of our civilization rests on the development of our great cities," declared Dr. William L. Bailey of the Northwestern University faculty, in an address here tonight.

"Civilization is only possible in regional aggregations, and the best things in modern American life
today are coming to pass in regions reigned over by large American cities.

"But such regions must be reorganized to meet new issues,
and changed conditions. If modern civilization is not able to organize
such regions, then it too will pass, without having made what would seem to be its supreme contribution to the history of civilization."

Makes Ten Million In Seven Months

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Seven months ago Robert F. Garland was an offbeat "wildcatter," with scarcely a dollar to his name.
Now he has $10,000,000, he asserts.
He is about the close two deals in Wall Street, he declares, to develop branch organizations of his crude oil business. He is only 36.

Garland drilled the "discovery
well" in the Seminole field,
Oklahoma, he says.

Drawing from a notebook a worn $1 bill, Garland told how he made his first strike after three years of wild-cattling. He said the dollar was the first he drew when discovery well spouted.

"It was in July of last year
that partners of mine gave up drilling in that area. They had gone 3,500 feet and quit. I went 500 feet more and struck the sand layer that gave oil," he added.

It was about this time that he asked for a $100 loan from a Tulsa bank, but was refused. The other day, he says, he was elected to its directorate.

Flood Waters Delay Setting Of Big Spans

CROCKETT, Feb. 23.—Held in the grip of the storm king for the past ten days and with the flood waters of the San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers pouring through the narrow channel, builders of the Cajalero bridge—the world's largest highway bridge—have been forced to abandon the attempt for the present to raise the two great suspension spans into place on the superstructure.

With clearing skies and the promise of fair weather, this delicate engineering feat is now scheduled to take place
on or about March 1st, according to C. Berleth Jr., chief engineer.

BOULDER DAM FIGHT TO BE STARTED TODAY

By FRASER EDWARDS
(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The Swing-Johnson bill, embodying the Boulder dam project, tonight had a fighting chance for passage before the present congress died on March 4.

After thirty and a half hours in continuous session—the longest since the fifty-three-hour session
on the armed merchantman resolution in 1916—the senate recessed at 5:30 until 8 o'clock tonight, when it will consider bills on the calendar, without action on the Swing-Johnson bill will be resumed at noon tomorrow.

Show Movies in Senate
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Moving pictures showing the dangers of Colorado river floods to the Imperial valley were shown tonight
by advocates of the Swing-Johnson

Views of the proposed high dam
to harness the river, were shown as well as places along the river which the next flood would devastate.

children and $75 per month for support.

TWO THOUSAND MARINES SENT TO NICARAGUA

Within 1000 Yards of Occupied Cities

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The British government today threatened to send a man of war to Nicaragua to protect its citizens
unless the United States can guarantee protection for them.

(By Universal Service)
BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Feb.
23.—Captain Woodward, chief of the American naval forces in the Pacific, notified the Sacasa government today that no fighting

dius of 1,000 yards from Chin-
dega, Leon, Managua, Granada, Paso Viejo, Cosamapa, Quetzalpeten, Chichigalpa, Posoltega and other points where marines are stationed.

Two thousand marines are expected to arrive here today. Most of them, it is said, will replace sailors, who are now ashore.

A fire, believed to be of an incendiary origin, destroyed a Chinese store and three other buildings last night.

Improvement Of Traffic Sought By Local C. C.

The entire attention of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce transportation committee is to be directed toward the improvement of traffic to the East Richmond section, a report made before the board of directors by Councilman W. W. Scott, chairman of the committee, revealed yesterday.

At a general meeting of the organization to be held March 15,
the matter will be fully considered by the Chamber of Commerce.
An effort is now being made to raise the number of new members added during the recent canvass from 88 to 100. President P.
M. Sanford complimented George Thornton, chairman of the committee in charge of the drive up-

chamber of commerce workers.

River Levees Are Broken

(By Universal Service)
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 23.—With a general falls recorded in Sacramento river the crest passed at Knights Landing "where levees were severely taxed during the past few days and a large washout in the levee two miles north of Colusa taking care of excess water in that vicinity, residents of the valley believe that all danger of possible floods has been past.

The Colusa washout occurred early this morning, 50 feet of the levee breaking without warning.
Approximately 10,000 acres of land north of that city are flooded and late today it was reported that 200 feet of the levee has been washed away.

Col. Francisco De Pinedo, who successfully flew from Africa to Brazil in a non-stop flight, is shown here being congratulated by Mussolini on the completion of his great flight from Rome to Melbourne to Tokyo and back to Rome. Continuation of his intercontinental flight was halted in Brazil when De Pinedo landed with apparatus damaged by storms encountered in his flight.

DISTANCE SWIM WILL FEATURE BRIDGE OPENING

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.— Long-distance swimmers may have a new chance for world fame in a race from Sacramento and Stockton to the Carquinez bridge
on May 21, when the giant span across the northern arm of San Francisco bay is officially dedicated.

This statement was made today
by the Carquinez bridge celebration committee, in announcing a partial program of spectacular stunts on land and afloat to feature the formal opening of the world's longest highway bridge.

Plans for the swimming race contemplate entries representing the capital city on the Sacramento river and another group from the port of Stockton to swim down
the San Joaquin river. The high spot of the spirited contest is expected to come after the rival entrants meet at the confluence of the two streams near Pittsburg.

Cops Stage Gun Battle; 1 Killed

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—One police officer was shot and killed and three other officers were seriously wounded in a gun battle here tonight which grew out of a petty argument as to who had the automobile right of way at a narrow crossing.

According to meager information
gathered from the wounded men,
the four policemen comprising two flavor squads, came together at Lincoln avenue near Grace street.
When the cars crashed an argument ensued as to which flivver had the right of way. They settled the argument with their guns.

Floods Threaten Northern States

(By Universal Service)
SEATTLE, Feb. 23.—Hail, storms
and floods were taking their toll
in Washington today.

Wilson Creek, a small town in Grant county, is under four feet of water and flooded streams are threatening nearby villages, according to reports from Yakima and Wenatchee.

Fears that the Moses lake dam
may break and flood the entire apple orchard valley were expressed. The dam impounds water for irrigation purposes and the artificial lake was swollen to the bursting point by heavy rains
and melting snows in the Cascades.

WIDENING BILL IS INTRODUCED IN LEGISLATURE

MARTINEZ, Feb. 23.—A bill
providing for the state's appropriation of $91,500 for the deepening and widening of the channel between Martinez and Antioch was yesterday introduced in the legislature at Sacramento by Senator Will R. Sharkey of Martinez.

An appropriation for a like amount to be used when the state passes a bill for $91,500 has already been set aside by the government. The depth of the channel would be increased to 25 feet and the width to 300 feet under the proposed measure.

Points urged for the adoption of the bill included the fact that 29 industries along the channel depend on deep water for transportation. The assessed valuation of these industries reaches $16,000, 000 with an annual output of $60,000,000, an annual payroll of $11,000,000 and 8,000 men employed.

Local Man Arrested On Battery Charge

E. Sime, Sixteenth street and Chancellor avenue, was released on $100 bail when he appeared before Justice of the Peace John Roth
yesterday on a charge of battery
after an alleged fight with C. M.
Hinds, 402 Berkeley Park, Oakland, here yesterday.

According to Hinds he hired Sime to plaster a house for him
heer, and becoming dissatisfied with the work, he told Sime that he would pay him as soon as the job was done over.

Hinds further alleges that Sime
picked up a trowel and hit him
on the arms.

Sime was arrested by Police Inspector L. E. Jones. Appearing before Justice Roth he denied all charges and was released on bail.
Date of trial has not been set.

BRITAIN WARNS SOVIET RUSSIA IN GRAVE NOTE

Note Threatens Severance
Of Relations Between
Two Countries

By ROBERT J. PREW
(By Universal Service)
Special Cable Dispatch

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The British government, through Sir Austen Chamberlain, today warned Soviet Russia, in gravest terms, that the limit of Britain's patience had been reached.

Emphasizing that the relations between Britain and the Soviet government were of a most unsatisfactory character, the British government did not mince words
but informed the Soviet that a continuance of propaganda against British subjects, or interference with purely British concerns, would bring about abrogation of the trade agreement and, if necessary, the severance of diplomatic relations.

"His majesty's government has persistently striven for the promotion of world peace," declared
Sir Austen Chamberlain, speaking for the British government, in the note, "but it considers it necessary to warn Russia, in the gravest terms, that there are limits beyond which it is dangerous to drive public opinion in this country."

The protest was handed to the

CARS DAMAGED IN ACCIDENTS

Slippery pavements, caused by the downpour last night, almost brought disaster to two motorists
here last night.

A bakery truck, driven by James A. Dempsey, of Oakland skidded on the wet pavement of Cutting boulevard, hit against the center parking place and turned over on its side. Dempsey was not injured. The car was righted
and he continued his work.

Joe Silvia, 2 West Richmond
avenue, driving west on Garrard avenue was uninjured when his car skid against the curb and broke two wheels.

Works Of Ancient Race Found In South

(By Universal Service)
BERKELEY, Feb. 23.—Beautiful
jars and household utensils, designed by Indians perhaps a thousand or more years ago, have been accidentally uncovered in a series of caves in Imperial valley, west of Brawley and 10 to 12 miles north of the Superstition mountains.

The discoverers are Professor Hiram W. Edwards of the physics department of the University of California at Los Angeles, and Dean E. C. Palmer of the Junior College of Brawley.

The jars, which are exceptionally beautiful, stand nearly two feet high and are covered with geometric patterns. The caves all give evidence of having been once occupied by Indians.

A human footprint, made many centuries ago and distinctly impressed in what has now become rock, also was found in one of the caves.

to retain the mud that will be encountered when Richmond harbor is deepened, started yesterday City Engineer E. A. Hoffman announced. A dredger was sent down from Antioch and is making good progress in throwing up a levee.

Plans and specifications for the dredging of Richmond harbor have been approved with minor changes
by the chief of engineers in Washington, and work will probably start sometime in March in compliance with the agreement with the Ford Motor company in

GENERAL SUN RELINQUISHES DEFENSE OF CHINESE CITY

Executions in Shanghai End; 90,000 Still On General Strike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Four additional American destroyers were ordered to Shanghai today
as the situation there took a more serious turn, the navy department announced.

The ships are to reinforce the already large force concentrated off Shanghai under command of Admiral Williams.

The state department would not make public definite advice on the imminent attack on Shanghai
and the danger to Americans
there, but it was admitted that new peril had prompted the dispatch of additional warships.

With these ships and the 120-marines aboard the transport Chaumont which is due to arrive at Shanghai today, it is believed that Admiral Williams will be able to afford adequate protection to Americans.

Means To Stop Dope Addiction Are Discussed

(By Universal Service)
BERKELEY, Feb. 23.—Three means of preventing drug addiction in the United States were outlined today by Dr. Robert T.
Legge, head of the University of California infirmary.

First, the United States government should regulate illicit dope traffic with other countries by international regulations; second,
the American medical association
should define specifically the illegitimate use of drugs to eliminate careless or unscrupulous practitioners; and last, a nation-wide investigation of the extent of dope usage should be carried out.

Dr. Legge does not believe,
however, that the dope menace
has increased in the last few years. He states that, judging from population increased and statistics
on the amount of narcotics manufactured, their use has materially decreased.

MORE BRIGHT SIRES

Proof accumulates that the country has been passing through a solidly prosperous year. Business in every line had good times and promises of more.

In this day of depressing weather, perhaps it will be cheering to read a summary of business as carried by the International News Service yesterday:

"Despite a general slowing down of industry in the last three months of 1926, the level of production for the entire year was the greatest on record and Christmas holiday retail trade exceeded any previous figures, the federal reserve board announced today.

"Department store sales in December were 2½ per cent greater than in the same month of 1925.

"In the Minneapolis federal reserve district alone did sales drop. San Francisco reported an eight per cent increase. In the Boston district there was a 25 per cent increase in installment buying, eight per cent increase in charge accounts while cash sales were the same as last December.

"Figures for other districts were not available but officials said that installment sales probably increased heavily all over the country.

"Sixty chain store systems reported sales of $1,825,000,000 for the year. Twenty six grocery chain systems had sales 20 per cent heavier than in 1925."

Men Who Made the World

AND SO IT WAS THAT ROSAMOND LIVED HAPPILY CONCEALED WHILE QUEEN ELEANORA OCCUPIED THE PALACE ITSELF. ELEANORA FINALLY SUSPECTED HENRY'S SECRET. SHE CHANCED ONE DAY TO NOTICE A BIT OF SILK FLOSS ON THE KING'S CLOTHING, AND LATER DISCOVERED THE SAME KIND OF SILK THREAD IN A PART OF THE LABYRINTH. THIS EXCITED HER CURIOSITY, AS I SUPPOSE IT WOULD ANY JEALOUS WOMAN. UNWITTINGLY THE QUEEN HAD HIT UPON THE KING'S METHOD OF FINDING HIS WAY IN AND OUT OF THE LABYRINTH. WHEN AN OPPORTUNITY PRESENTED, SHE SECRETLY FOLLOWED THE INTRICATE PATH TO THE HEART OF THE LABYRINTH BY MEANS OF THESE SILKEN CLUES. THERE SHE FOUND A CURIOUSLY FASHIONED DOOR, CAREFULLY SCREENED BY THE DENSE THICKETS.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper. Name your city on your return envelope. Don't say "city."

LET'S NOT QUARREL

Why so domestic, asks Frances A. B., who goes on with a long letter which she would like to see in print. I have room for only the main points:

It has been frankly admitted that medical science is not an exact science but is constantly in experiment and what is "true" and heralded today as a revelation is discarded tomorrow as a mistaken theory or quietly ignored.

Medical science is as exact as any other science. Can you name any other living science which is not open to the same criticisms you make against medical science? Or any art or profession?

I quote from "How to Eat—A Cure for Nerves" by Dr. Thomas Clark Hinkle, of which Dr. Alfred McCann says: "It should be eaten into marble in letters of sulphuric acid and set up before the gates of every American city." This is the quotation:

"It is perfectly absurd to say as some physicians still continue to say, that no poisonous matter is ever absorbed in the intestinal tract. Give a child something that causes intestinal indigestion and see how quickly he has a rise in temperature. This fever is a direct result of the poisons absorbed in the intestines. In the case of a nervous adult, however, this poison does not as often result in fever as it does in a horrible mental depression and a complete inability to perform any sort of work."

If Alfred McCann is entitled to be called doctor, then I should be called queen of the May. What McCann may think or say about the matter is of no consequence. What Dr. Hinkle says, if you quote him correctly, is, to my mind, veritable claptrap. In a first place, he fails to divulge the identity of the physicians he says believe that no poisonous matter is ever absorbed in the intestinal tract. I doubt that any physician believes that. In the next place, he fails to identify the substance which will cause "intestinal indigestion"—whatever that may be. Of course it is just as well to leave that in the air in an argument of this kind. Next, he dogmatically asserts "that this (hypothetical) fever which has been caused by 'something' is a direct result of the poisons absorbed in the intestines. Then he dishes out some more dogma, hot dogma, this time, about the "horrible mental depression" of the nervous adult—whatever that may mean—and the "complete inability to perform any work." This final crack will delight the neurotics who want to live without working but haven't sufficient wit to accomplish the feat. It offers them a way of escape, a funk-hole to hide in when some particularly unattractive work is to be avoided.

Another axiom out of experience: "A man's either a fool or a doctor at 40!" Very good. I'm a doctor at forty-four. What are you? Individuals differ and it behooves each intelligent individual to study his own reactions to bodily experiences and experiments—common sense being the eternal guide—and using ever the God given servants of humanity: Reason, understanding and will.

To be sure, individuals differ a lot, but all the rest of it is questionable. Very few individuals are capable of studying their own reactions and bodily experiences and experiments. If they attempt it they are likely to learn, after a time, the truth of the axiom you just cited, about a man being either a fool or a doctor at 40.

Common sense more often misleads those who believe they are following it. Uncommon sense is a better guide. The evidently strong impression made upon your mind by the claptrap of Dr. Hinkle and the observations of Mr. McCann well illustrate the harm that comes from attempting to use reason and understanding without having knowledge to base them on.

As for will, it seems to be the will to believe whatever plausible hokum happens to suit your own notions.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
The Laboratory Game
Please examine the matter inclosed. It is from the . . . laboratories and they guarantee to cure . . . (M. S.)

Answer—No honest physician or specialist can guarantee to cure anything. How can a mere mail order trickster do so? One suspicious feature of all such transactions is that the swindler gets your money in advance. The trick is to get the money back when you realize you have been stung. No one has found out how to do the trick yet. Aside from the "guarantee" hokum, you may put down as a shady if not a palpably fraudulent game any "laboratories," "institutes," "associations," "clinics" or other impersonal organizations which purport to cure any disease or treat any disease.

In these days of dawning light on fraudulent practices the poor sinner who seeks medical service from any impersonal organization deserves to be humbugged. No reputable physician or specialist practices under any other name than his own.

The Baby's Adenoids
Is there any danger in having an operation for adenoids for a boy aged 26 months and at this time of year? (W. H. R.)

Answer—The time of year makes no difference, unless the patient would be exposed to an infectious disease in the clinic or hospital. It is often necessary to remove adenoids in young infants.

Acetylene Welding
How much danger is it to a man who works as an acetylene welder? I mean the occupational disease he would be exposed to. (Mrs. O. W.)

Answer—Very little danger. There have been rare cases of phosphorus poisoning in acetylene welders from impurity of the acetylene gas. There is slight risk of chronic lead poisoning from anti-poisoning or other metallic poisoning from the material volatilized during welding.

Soft Corns
Treat 'em as you would hard corns, but in addition it is necessary to keep pieces of absorbent cotton or gauze between the toes to absorb the moisture, and these must be changed two or three times daily. If the surfaces are kept dry the daily painting of the corn with a solution of thirty (30) grains of salicylic acid in one-half ounce of flexible (not ordinary) collodion will remove the

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.
The Parent Counselor

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamp, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

"A good sport," writes a prize-winning dabbler of FORUM, "is one who receives thirteen horrible Christmas ties, thanks each giver—and wears every tie."

Another contributor said, "A good sport is one who says, 'YES, DEAR,' when his wife directs his driving from the back of his car."

I wonder if such definitions would come from youth? To them is a good sport a hero, or a martyr, or a humorist? To boys and girls is a good sport merely a free spender, or an athlete, or a Pollyanna?

The expression "a good sport" started out in Slang Alley, but it is now on Main street, and to the majority of us means that those who play the Great Game of Life in a courageous and courteous manner are GOOD SPORTS.

Of the hundreds of books in the past month which have either been thrust upon me or which I have purchased, one stands out. It is called "Advances in Habit-Craft" and is a thoroughly up-to-date plan for developing right habits in young folks through making and interpreting habit-craft models. But more about this book some other day.

In the chapter "The Habit of Being a Good Sport," the author gives some moral fibre tests. Supposing my young readers, between the ages of ten and sixteen, try them. Just draw a circle around the number one (1) if you think that is the right answer, or around 2, or 3, or 4. Send your answers to me care of this newspaper. I will write back if you send a stamped addressed envelope for return reply.

(a) Suppose someone on your school team spiked a runner at second base purposely and no one else saw it. But you, what would you do?

1. Tell him what you think of him, and see if you can't make him promise to play fair.
2. Let it go, because it might help the team win.

3. Tell some of your friends, and see what they think about it.
4. Tell the whole team and let the majority decide what to do.

(b) Suppose you had a quarrel with a chum and said things to her (or his) discredit that weren't true? What would you do when you felt mean about it afterwards?

1. Go back and tell her you were sorry.
2. Take back what you said in the presence of the people who heard it.

3. Say some nice things about him so that people will forget the disagreeable ones.
4. Do nothing about it, on the plea that after all people will soon forget what you said.

(c) Suppose you were afraid to dive off a spring-board, but you were also afraid that your friends would call you a coward if you didn't. Of which would you be more afraid?

1. Being called a coward.
2. Diving off the spring-board.
(b) Suppose some one to whom you had been especially kind afterwards did something very mean to you. Then suppose a chance offered to do something "else" for that person. What would you do?

1. Do the second kind thing.
2. Do the first kind thing.

and say nothing.
2. Tell him how mean you thought he was, but do the second kinder just the same to let him know that you thought it was just a slip.

2. Refuse to do the kind thing, and tell him why.
Now parents, for goodness sake don't shove this clipping in front of your child, least of all at him, hand him a pencil and say "Sit down and do it." I want to see what sort of a character you've got.

This is no way to go about it. Have a little family discussion, let mother and father in it, have a little argument because there is a good deal behind these questions. WHAT IS A GOOD SPORT ANYHOW?

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER
Wants Long Pants
My son is thirteen and causes the teachers all kinds of trouble by not wanting to do what the rest do when they do it. It is the teacher undertakes to make him do anything he gets very unruly. The principal complained about him and said, "He just acts devilish."

He wants long pants very badly, so we have told him that if he gets his lessons and treats the teachers as he should and does not give any more trouble we would get them for him when we see his next report card. It is understood that he loses them if he is only in the fifth grade. Are we doing right?

Troubled Mother
ANSWER—When I got to the place in your letter where you said the boy wanted long pants I wanted to say: "By all means get him the pants as a reward for getting along well in school." Then I read on and found that you are hitting the nail on the head by doing just what I want you to do.

The boy thinks he is a man. Long pants will help him to feel it. The enclosed sheet on "Adolescence" will help you.

Recognition of Service
Why shouldn't students who hold offices get a reward just as the athletes do?

Teacher
ANSWER—Fine! If we are going to have a parade of lettered sweatshirts for powers in athletics, let's glorify the scholars who edit the school paper, stand highest in mathematics, debate effectively, and so on. As long as we burn the red powder for the side-shows of the educational circus, the public will forget that anything is doing in the main ring.

WHAT'S WRONG HERE
ANSWER—No self-respecting aviator should pick upon a poor little battleship. It is not good taste and is liable to cause distress to the weaker party. If the rude aviator must needs drop things promiscuously, let him go to the bottom of a coal mine and then he will be sure to harm nothing but the coal, which is used to being picked on. If, however, things must be dropped on battleships let those things be garlands of daisies and confetti. This does not include Irish confetti.

Bill Grimm's Progress

Copyright, 1926, by Collier's Weekly and G. P. Putnam Sons
"Bill Grimm's Progress" is a collaboration by Flinn Bookings O'Brien of America, Inc., (F. E. O.), of H. C. Witwer's stories of the same name.

SYNOPSIS
Bill Grimm comes to New York to make his fortune and becomes a heavyweight boxer under the tutelage of Butch Ford. Jack Fairfax, Bill's bugaboo, bets Bill's teashop, on which he holds the unpaid notes, against twenty-five thousand dollars that Bill will not K. O. Carney. Barbara Baxter, Bill's fiancée, directs his teashop venture. Herne, Bill's friend, in love with Pansy, invites them all to a house party.

I give in to Barbara's orders that there was to be no scenes, so I didn't tip Herne about what was between me and his old college chum.

My refusal to knock over a poltice went big with Barbara, which in a clinging, sky-blue evening gown had the other cutters biting their nails. I bill a tuxedo easy, and Herne told me once during the evening's merrymaking that me and Barbara together made a pair off a magazine cover. Snicker that away!

During one of the endless dances we strolled out in the big gardens around Herne's mansion and sat down on a stone bench. It was a brave, bright, moonlight night which not only made me sentimental, but it gave me the blues. Here was Barbara not three inches away from me, but with my ability to lose money she seemed further away than Heaven.

"You must find Fairfax and get him to release you from your foolish wager," says Barbara, arranging her hair after a wonderful intermission in which talk was at a premium. "Offer him the twenty-

I had to act like a movie star and smother Pansy's dress, five thousand you borrowed from Mr. Herne for the notes on the tea shop."

"But suppose—" I started.
"Bill," quietly remarks Barbara, "did you hear my suggestion?"
"One look educated me."

"Kayo, honny!" I says, "I'm off." I searched the gardens for Fairfax close to half a hour before I finally found him with no less than Pansy Pilkington, which was supposed to look like the very light of him. They both glanced up when I stumbled on 'em, and I gave Pansy a stare which must of put a permanent wave in her hair. She flushed and looked uncomfortable, but Fairfax deliberately blew his cigarette smoke in my face and grinned nastily.

"Fairfax," I says, dying in agony of having to draw to this hour, "I'd like to call our bet off, and I'm ready to take up my notes—"

"You'll call nothing off!" he interrupts, with a snarl like a wolf. "You won't walk on me, you big, cheap squawker! I'm going to break you and make you like it, do you hear that? You can stay here with your ex-sweetheart. I'll inform Barbara Baxter where you may be found!"

About a hour later we're all inside the big house clowning, and me and Barbara was getting ready to leave. Dave, who was telling us about something, and Fairfax was hanging over Pansy at the other end of the room with a lit match between his fingers, too busy talking to be disturbed. I seen Fairfax bend down swiftly like he was going to kiss Pansy and she shoved him away. The next instant Pansy screamed and jumped up, beating frantically at her dress with her hands. The burning match must of fell on her gauzy evening gown and set it ablaze.

It sounds much worse than it actually was, though there were screams of excitement for a few minutes. The rest of 'em just stood around helpless with panic, so I had to act like a movie star and smother Pansy's flaming dress with a costly rug and my equally costly dinner coat. To make it more of a scenario, Pansy executed a faint in my arms. Dave, who was grand stand stuff, no fooling! However, she wasn't burnt very much, but my hands was a mass of blisters. Fairfax's drunken laugh caused Herne to do a snap in, and he chased Fairfax out of the house with orders to come back never.

I was busy for the next half hour ducking the gushing girls which mistook me for a hero. Herne had a doctor there in no time, and the scream of it all was that Pansy got the hysterical and wouldn't stand nobody's near. "Barbara!" The three of us wound up by rolling home in Herne's big Bulls-Boves with him at the wheel, and when Pansy kissed Barbara good night I nearly fainted. The guy which can scare out women can also figure out what a pussycat means when it says meow!

Barney is slow in healing, and my hands was in bad shape the night of my bout with One-Round Carney, as I showed the newspaper boys in my dressing room before the massacre. Some of 'em said I was a sap to go in there with a murderer like Carney with my maulers in distress, but a postponement would of cost me a ten-thousand-dollar appearance forfeit, and that was out! A row over the referee had gave me a five days' delay at that, and helped. Butch beefed purposely to give my hands a chance to get well. We didn't care actually if Carney's old man refereed the fight; all we wanted was somebody which could count up to ten.

One wait after another put the excited crowd on edge and kept 'em there—and me with 'em. Carney was late showing up, and when he did he started a long argument with Butch Ford about my bandages. Monsieur Carney was bent to the fact that my hands was burned, and he was there to make the most of it. This was a big shot for us both, and I didn't blame him—it's all in the game—but the customers wanted action, and they razed Carney to a fare-thee-well.

They razed plenty more when the camera men crawled into the ring to get some pictures for the fight. That was more delay, while they fix the batteries of blinding lights and we posed for this and that. All the while the mind was in uproar. If I didn't knock out Carney I stood to lose my tea parlor, my share of the

MENJOU STARS IN ATTRACTION AT CALIFORNIA

If you're a blonde, see "Blonde or Brunette," Paramount's Adolphe Menjou starring production, which opened at the California theatre last night. It demonstrates how blonde women tame their men.

If you're a brunette don't miss the picture for anything. It shows what a brunette can do when competing with a blonde.

The controversy regarding a gentleman's preference is fed with the fuel of mirth by this saucy, spicy triangular farce, ably directed by Richard Rossen and enacted by a supporting cast commensurate with the star's skill and importance.

The picture presents Menjou at his best, in a characterization that thoroughly fits the story, locale and setting. As the prosperous young French attorney, Henri Martel, Menjou, at the opening of the tale suddenly rebels against the transformation of his home into a veritable roadhouse by jazz-mad acquaintances. He decides to get rid of them and settle down. Adolphe marries a baby-doll blonde, fresh from the country (Greta Nissen, the Norwegian beauty), but doesn't stay settled for long.

Paris effects a transformation on his bride and soon his house is more crowded than ever with the very kind of people he's been trying to escape. He turns for solace to a sedate brunette, Arlette Marchal, who, for the purposes of the story, is as somber as her coloring.

It takes two divorces, three marriages, the combined efforts of the in-laws, a detective, and a quick-witted grandmother to square the triangle. It would spoil everything to tell whether the blonde or brunette wins out but let it be announced that he marries them both.

There are important parts for others besides the principals. Mary Carr, the grandmother, has a role that does much for the picture's success. The cast includes Henri Menjou, Adolphe's brother, Emile Chautard and Paul Weigel.

Other features include the jazz version of the O. Henry story, "The Complete Life"; "Varieties"; "International News," and Larry Canelo at the organ.

FOREVER AFTER AT RICHMOND IS FROM STAGE HIT

Another great stage success has been turned into a moving picture of exceptional appeal. "Forever After," which First National filmed from Owen Davis' play of the same name, should be one of the season's cinema hits if the reception it got at the Richmond theatre's opening last night is a true guide.

Chock full of vivid action in scenes of childhood games, football clashes and the even more thrilling combats of French battlefields, the picture is woven around a tender love affair between the son of an impoverished lawyer and the gentle daughter of a New England plutocrat.

Mary Astor has taken the role of Alice Brady, made famous on the stage, and leavened it with a charm and beauty which, aided by the limitless range of the camera, makes an even more intriguing character on the screen.

Lloyd Hughes makes a fresh, attractive hero who plunges through life with the same gay abandon in football games and hand-to-hand engagements in No Man's Land that marked his daring as a boy in the Little New England town.

The story is told in a flash-back fashion with a wounded infantry captain lying almost dead on the battlefield, remembering, scene by scene, the highlights of his hectic young life.

A startling climax makes this new film stand out as entertainment of more than ordinary appeal.

David Torrence and Alec Francis, both of whom seemed to be favorites with the Strand audience; Eulalie Jensen, whom this reviewer found charming in her poise and bearing; Hallam Cooley, John St. Polis, Lila Leslie and a group of football players from last year's championship team at the University of Southern California complete the cast. No, there was another character—an unnamed goat which shared the starring honors.

Other film features include "A-1 Society," an Imperial comedy; "Prizma," and a Grantland Rice "Sportlight."

Speed Limit Law Is Enforced In University City

Speed limit laws are being strictly enforced in Berkeley in a campaign to curb carelessness in driving, the California State Automobile Association reported yesterday. Motorists exceeding by even one mile the 20 mile limit in residence sections, the 15 mile limit in the business district and the 15 mile limit at intersections in either district are being arrested.

Above 35 miles an hour, motorists will be given the choice of a five day jail term or impounding of the car for at least a month. This sentence is to be increased according to the speed. To insure that the car of an offending motorist will not be used when impounded, the driver will be relieved of his operator's license and license plates will be removed from the car.

"An increase in deaths due to automobile accidents resulted in judges, police and city officials determining on these measures in the campaign against speeding and reckless driving. Street accident fatalities in Berkeley during the past seven months totalled 19, as many as the total for the entire previous fiscal year.

TWO INJURED IN HOLIDAY CRASH

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swall, 2819 Sixty-first street, Oakland, sustained severe lacerations and bruises as the result of a head-on crash between the automobile in which they were driving and one driven by Raymond Burke of Richmond, at Eureka and San Pablo avenues, El Cerrito, Tuesday afternoon.

The accident resulted as the result of Swall's alleged attempt to avoid collision with an automobile that had darted out of a side street in front of him. The driver of the third car did not step after the accident.

Both machines were badly wrecked. Mr. and Mrs. Swall were taken to the Berkeley general hospital for treatment.

Considerable damage was done to machines driven by Arthur M. Wood, 1225 Pine street, Martinez, and Howard Kerst, 1344 Wright avenue, Richmond, when they collided at San Pablo avenue between Barrett and Roosevelt avenues Tuesday afternoon. No one was hurt in the accident.

CREW RESCUED FROM SINKING LUMBER SHIP

(By Universal Service)

PORTLAND, Feb. 23.—The crew of the lumber schooner Mary E. Moore which foundered this evening off the entrance of the Columbia river was rescued tonight by the passenger liner Admiral Perry. After the steamer Ruth Alexander en route to Seattle was unable to pick up the men in small boats.

The Alexander reported to the Marine department of the federal telegraph company her that she had been unable because of rough seas to get close enough to pick up the Moore's crew and asked the Perry to assist. A short time later the Perry picked up the men in two light boats including Captain Rosenwald and 28 men.

The Moore tonight piled up on the Coquille river breakwater and is a total loss.

Prof. Stresses Importance Of Care Of Teeth

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—Proper care of children's first teeth is just as important as prevention of measles or other childhood diseases, in the opinion of Dr. W. M. Cameron of the University of California dental college in San Francisco.

"Ninety per cent of the children in California are in need of such care," he stated today. "The evil effects attendant upon neglect of baby teeth may be included under four classifications: 1. The child is unable to get with decayed teeth in its mouth. Thousands of dollars are spent annually inspecting foods, and the watch with jealous care to see that children get good food. But if they have decayed teeth, the food is contaminated anyhow."

"2. Poor teeth lead to tooth aches, destroying a child's pleasure in life and preventing it from getting sleep. 3. Tooth decay, by leading to infection of feet at the roots of the teeth, may lead to permanent disabilities in other parts of the body, such as nervous troubles throughout the system, or lesions of the heart."

"4. Malocclusion may take place; that is, the arch of the teeth may collapse and later expensive orthodontic work may be necessary."

Total Of 2619 Traffic Arrests In C. C. For 1926

Exceeded by only a few of the most populous counties of the state, Contra Costa county traffic arrests totaled 2,619 during 1926 and fines imposed totaled $14,305, figures released by C. K. Harder, chief inspector of the division of motor vehicles, at Sacramento, yesterday.

The total for the state was 66,416, of which number 15,256 paid fines totaling $444,407. Delinquent fees to the amount of $109,209 were credited to collections made by 200 motorcycle officers of the state.

Approximately 200,000 motorists were required to drive to the curb and explain violations to officers. Nearly 40,000 were arrested for having illegal lights, 7,130 for violating rules of the road, and 7,130 for miscellaneous offenses.

Traffic officers rode their motorcycles 3,900,554 miles in this work. Two were killed and 12 injured in performance of their duty.

The greatest number of "stops" were made by Riverside county's traffic squad, with 15,264 motorists halted and 3,387 arrested.

BRITAIN WARNS SOVIET RUSSIA IN GRAVE NOTE

Soviet agent in London. The note declares:

"The relations existing between His Majesty's government and the government of the Union Soviet and Socialist Republics continue notoriously to be of an unsatisfactory character."

"His Majesty's government is indeed well aware of the delusion under which M. Tchitcherin and many of his colleagues are suffering that Great Britain is continually plotting against Russia, and for this purpose has never ceased to guide the policy of such countries as Poland and the Baltic states and Persia into channels directed against Soviet Russia."

"No impartial study of the policies of those countries, no dispassionate examination of the facts and no reassurances of His Majesty's government have availed to dispell the obsession which is as illogical as it is ill founded."

"Its continuance, therefore, can only be based on rooted, even perhaps temperamental, hostility in the minds of the Soviet authorities themselves and the corresponding credulity in regard to false reports from interested informants."

The note cites extracts from the speeches of Bukharin in Moscow last fall as evidence of Russia's antagonism toward Britain. One of the extracts follows:

"In event of the further victorious advance of the Chinese armies it is no longer to be expected that the victorious Chinese revolution will find an immediate echo in the neighboring colonial countries—India, Indonesia and Dutch India."

"All this makes it clear that China is the mighty center of attraction for a colonial periphery."

"The English miners' strike and the national revolution in China are, it seems to me, the chief spots where the Communists parties must apply their efforts, and I think as regards these lines of policy we have no reason whatsoever to be pessimistic."

GOOD BOUTS ARE ARRANGED FOR EL CERRITO

Eddie Dempier, the San Jose high school boy who trimmed Tim Vahey a few weeks ago, and Pete Meyer are training as if Friday night's main event were for a world's championship. They will have little excuse to offer if they are beat. As a rule there is always one of the principals that rule as a favorite in the betting. In the Meyer-Dempier fight the odds have been quoted as even money. That gives one an idea just how tough trying to pick a winner in Friday night's main event really is.

Dave Flash, a stablemate of Eddie Dempier, will essay to again beat Ray Walker. Flash beat Ray once before and says he can do it again. Walker, on the other hand, claims he was in poor shape for their first fight and will prove that he is Flash's master on Friday night. They will stop six rounds or less. Emphasis on the less.

Tony Pasich, the San Jose 152-pounder, will strut his chest all covered with battleships against Cliff Hottenger. Cliff says if he hits Pasich he will sink several of Tony's boats.

Manuel Vasquez, the dark skinned boy of Berkeley, who is coming along nicely of late, tangles with Young Campston, the hard hitting Oakland boy. Frankie Dodge, who looked so good on the last card when he stopped Nate Hirsch, will meet "Smash" Charley Parks, the ebony hued boy who cubbed on the last card and lost a close decision to Charley Miller.

Charley Miller is also back and after beating Charley Parks was matched with Lawrence Guffre. All told the card is one of the best balanced ones that we have seen and the fan is sure to get his money's worth Friday night from all outward advances. A bumper house will be on hand to greet the boxers.

DOG DERBY IS WON BY EMIL ST. GODDARD

(By Universal Service)
QUEBEC, Que., Feb. 23.—His dog strag along as fresh as a daisy is leaped away from the starting post, and his own long mile-eating stride unbroken, Emil St. Goddard, 21-year-old dog sled driver of Le Pas, Manitoba, today marched across the finish line of the final 40-mile division of the 3-day, 120-mile eastern international dog derby to clinch the $1,000 flight prize.

The young musher's time for the whole distance of 120 miles was 41 hours, 37 minutes and 35 seconds.

In St. Goddard's rear, his long whip booming like a miniature cannon, the same last that guided on the hero dogs in the dash to Nome, Leonard Sepalla, 50-year-old veteran of the snow packed trail, fought a desperate battle to cut down St. Goddard's lead, but lost.

Sepalla Second

Sepalla, in second place, trailed St. Goddard's time by 20 minutes and 20 seconds.

George Cheverette, former holder of the world record for a one-day 40-mile run, took third place with a time total of 12 hours, 18 minutes and 45 seconds. Fifteen-year-old Paddy Nolan, his clubby legs bravely beating the frozen track, surprised even the most ardent of his supporters, by taking fourth place, with the remarkable time of 13 hours, 15 minutes and 50 seconds.

The schoolboy's showing was all the more remarkable as he began this morning's final lap of 40 miles minus one of his 5 dogs, who was left behind incapacitated by stiffness, the bugaboo, of the racing malemute.

Frank Du Puis, winner of the race last year, finished 5th, and Victor Lavigne, 6th.

Billiard Tourney Attracts Many

Pete Petuya, well known Pon Honor butcher, won two straight 150-point games from H. Sullivan in the billiard elimination contest now under way at the Fern Leaf cigar store, on Macdonald avenue, near Sixth street. Scores were 42-50, 37-50.

J. E. Hill, Richmond insurance man, and Mrs. Dora Randall, confined to the Berkeley general hospital, are "getting along nicely and are improving." Frank Hoff-sas of El Cerrito, who suffered a fractured skull in the crash, is said to be "much improved."

MULE SANDAL CONTEST IS NEARING END

(By Universal Service)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 23.—"Davis threw three ringers." Such was the burden of the score-keepers sing song voice morning and afternoon on the courts here today during the next to the last session of the National Horseshoe Pitching tournament. And that was just about the size of it.

This pleasant looking former national champion of Columbus, Ohio, who plays wearing a straw hat and throws his shoe with a one and three quarter turn of English, continued his brilliant showing of yesterday when he won ten out of eleven games played, again dropping only one by 50 to 39 contest, and that to the young hope of Montpelier, Indiana, and capable Jimmy Risk, take of the qualifying rounds.

With this exception Davis was a ruthless but very graceful pitching machine, coloring the far edge with heart-breaking regularity. The last game of the day promised to make him go the limit of his skill.

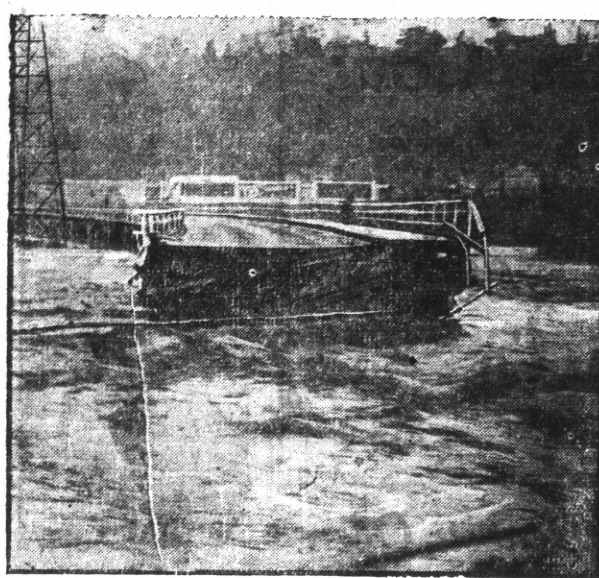

Blair Nunnaker did well after a poor start, but against the straw hatted machine, whose pitching makes the game look surprisingly easy, he hadn't a show and short went the way of those other twenty good men and true during the last two days. Risk came back after yesterday's poor start and won ten of his eleven contests, losing only to Nunnaker 50 to 39. After the closest kind of play in which fingers were distributed 43 to 1 in the winner's favor.

Mrs. George Braillette, of Minneapolis, Minn., is the class among the women pitchers here. However the champion encountered tough opposition from Mrs. Mayne Francisco, of Columbus, Ohio, and it was only after a display of consistent marksmanship that she triumphed 50 to 31, with ringers distributed 34 to 26 of which 7 were doubles on the part of the champion to 3 for her opponent.

Downey—New sewer system to be constructed in this town. Oxnard—$2,000,000 cannery to be erected here by Swift corporation.

Sheehy Death To Be Probed Friday

An inquest into the death of William G. Sheehy, 41, employe in the pipe shop of the Standard Oil company refinery in Richmond, who dropped dead while at work yesterday morning, will be conducted by Coroner Aubrey Wilson tomorrow night.

The deceased had complained of a pain in his chest to J. J. Brady, foreman of the crew, but refused to go to the company hospital for treatment, stating that he often suffered attacks such as he was then experiencing. Death is believed to have come as the result of heart failure.

Sheehy has a wife and three children living at his Berkeley home, 1225 Dwight way, Berkeley, records at the Standard Oil plant showed. Funeral services are pending.

COUNT SALM LOSES LOVE OF MILLICENT

By C. F. BERTELLI
(By Universal Service)
PARIS, Feb. 23.—No, Lady, there is no need in your trying to see me. First of all I don't like her. Secondly, none of your arguments could have the slightest effect against my paramount one, namely, that I now know I have fallen out of love and could never reconsider a reunion with you. The arrangement made in New York stands now as solidly as ever.

This message, not in the form of a letter or a written telegram but as an ultraconfidential verbal communication, was carried to Count Salm from his wife, the former Millicent Rogers, last night by a mutual friend who, at the Count's request, went to London to see Millicent right after the Count returned to Paris with his mother last week.

Officially the dashing Austrian nobleman is trying to obtain the custody of his child.

Privately Count Salm has been tarrying in Paris for the purpose of engineering a private interview with his wife, hoping to induce her to bury the past and resume marital life with him.

Failing this attempt, divorce proceedings will be started soon.

According to information from inside sources in New York reaching me here today, a private agreement was submitted by Millicent's father to Count Salm whereby very nearly a million dollars will be paid to him on the condition that he releases Millicent by divorce and renounces all claims to the custody of their child.

Salm, I am informed, declined to agree to his father-in-law's proposal while in America simply because back in his mind was his plan to make a last attempt to regain Millicent as his wife.

Now the above message makes it clear to him that all hopes of letting bygones be bygones is over and he will, say his friends, sue Millicent in the French courts on charges of desertion.

The evidence in his favor is in fact so well established that any French judge would have no alternative but to grant him a decree against his wife by simply applying the letter and the spirit of the Napoleonic code.

Helpful Patron Sustains Bruises In Near Riot

Temperament will have its day when Vincent Ranello, opera singer, and now head waiter at the Canadian Grill, 1016 Macdonald avenue, appears to answer to a complaint preferred by Frances Guppi, 1203 Macdonald avenue, who is exhibiting a swollen and cut lip as evidence that a "sweet" time was had by all in an elegant party which Guppi played the chief role as canteen last Tuesday morning, and a bowl of sugar scattered its contents in a miniature snowstorm.

Guppi's only fault according to Ranello was his desire to aid in transporting dishes from the grill to the kitchen. Apparently he believed that the two waiters already employed in the establishment were threatened with paralysis and was actuated by the purest motives.

The sugar bowl served Guppi's ex-citico task, however, and a large hole in the restaurant window testifies that a "hard stay out" was added to the admonition.

Witnesses aver that Ranello emphasized his distaste at Guppi's offense by waving a shining cleaver in the unappreciated waiter's wake.

Ranello has entered a plea of not guilty and may appear before Police Judge C. A. Odell this morning to answer the battery charge. He is at liberty under $500 bail pending the outcome of the debate.

Carquinez—Worlds Largest Span

COMPARISON OF WORLD'S BRIDGES

When the governors of the three Pacific coast states gather at the opening of the Carquinez bridge in May, California will become the possessor of the longest highway bridge in the world, according to statistics compiled by Professor Charles E. Derleth Jr., of the University of California.

The pictures here are self-explanatory, being an accurate comparison of the world's largest highway bridges with the Carquinez span. The drawing at the bottom of the lay-out shows the height of the Carquinez bridge as compared with various notable California buildings—Standard Oil building, San Francisco; City Hall, Oakland; Ferry building, San Francisco, and also shows the clearance given a battleship passing under the span.

According to Derleth, the Carquinez bridge, with its approach, measures 4482 feet. The next longest bridge in America is the Blackwell's Island span over the East river in New York, stretching 3724 feet, while the famous Quebec bridge across the St. Lawrence reaches Levis on the south bank, only 2830 feet from the Canadian metropolis.

Aside from its great length, flung across the turbulent waters of Carquinez Straits, the California span is notable also for the many engineering difficulties encountered in its construction and the large number of important technical problems which have been solved. This double cantilever bridge is built over a mid-stream depth of 100 feet of water, with huge concrete piers 40x40 feet in cross section, sinking through another 40 feet of bottom mud to solid sandstone rock foundations.

Nearest the Carquinez bridge in depth of water spanned is the Quebec, while the Blackwell's Island, Delaware and Brooklyn are built over comparatively shallow channels. Carquinez bridge has a 30-foot roadway of reinforced concrete, seven inches thick, over which three large motor trucks may pass abreast. This road is bordered by concrete sidewalks on either side.

An office building 100 stories high could be built from the 14,000 tons of steel used in Carquinez bridge, and 350 five-room bungalows might be constructed from the false-work lumber. The battleship California and other leviathans may sail with ease under the span, with its clearance over mean high water of 135 feet. There are no draws or lifts in the entire length of Carquinez bridge. Called the bridge "unfolding three flags," this monster span will complete a continuous highway from British Columbia to Mexico, forming the last link of road in the Pacific highway.

$17,000,000 FOR DEFENSE FUND ASKED IN BILL

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Funds to increase the army from 110,000 to 115,000 men, provide better nations for the soldiers, and to improve efficiency of the reserve air corps, were carried in a second deficiency bill reported by the appropriations committee to the House today.

More than $17,000,000 was asked for the army, navy and marine corps. Other items brought the total up to $63,400,957.

Appropriation of $842,500 for expenses of the Marine Mail Guard were asked. Additional funds for two submarines under construction and work at several navy yards were included.

Reappropriation of $72,000 to carry on the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills Oil Lease cases, was asked; $35,000,000 for the veterans bureau, $586,515 for the Indian bureau, $950,000 for the reclamation bureau and $438,000 for the immigration service.

Budget bureau recommendations for $814,448 to remove explosives from Curtis Bay Ordnance depot, Maryland, and Raritan Arsenal, N. J., were rejected by the committee.

Allotment of $472,300 for repairs to the Federal Prison at Atlanta, Ga., and $100,000 for the Chillicothe, Ohio, Reformatory.

Demand 3 Cruisers

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Bigger navy forces won another victory today when the senate re-affirmed its demand for immediate construction of three new cruisers.

Senate and house conferees on the naval appropriation bill reported an agreement on all issues in dispute, excepting the three cruisers. The senate then directed that further conferences be held upon the cruiser item. It accepted the compromise on other features.

Action on the conferees' report probably will be taken by the House Thursday when the bigger navy bloc will fight for a reversal of the previous stand of the House against the cruisers. Rejection of the President's arms-reduction proposal by France and Italy are believed to have strengthened the forces in congress trying to restore the 5-5-3 ratio in cruiser strength.

The three cruiser program was defeated in the House by only two votes, after pressure had been brought from the White House against a building program. The conference report called for a navy of 83,250 men and 235 new airplanes for the naval air service. A senate provision for four planes for the naval reserve was accepted.

mains at Sun Kiang, however, and is expected to offer resistance to the Cantonese at that point.

Deny Report
The navy department denied current reports that American troops had actually landed in Shanghai and were patrolling the international settlement. It was said that the men are being held in readiness aboard the warships and will land only when it becomes necessary.

Report of the firing on Shanghai by Chinese gunboats was confirmed by cable to the state department. The firing was directed at the arsenal and some of the shells overreached and fell in the French concession. Little damage was done.

Play Mah Jongg
LONDON, Feb. 23.—All the officers of the Chinese gunboat were ashore playing Mah Jongg when the crews went over to the Cantonese and shelled the Shanghai arsenal, according to a dispatch to the Daily News tonight.

One shell struck a British field hospital, nearly at right angles to the target.

Sun Fang Loses Command
(By Universal Service)
SHANGHAI, Feb. 23.—The defense of Shanghai has been given up by General Sun Chuan Fang, who is to be sent on a mission to Japan. He will be succeeded by Chang Taung Chang, son of Marshal Chang Tso Lin, leader of the northern Chinese armies.

No one was surprised to learn that Sun Chuan Fang, who has been so disastrously pressed by the Cantonese, had been relieved of his command.

The deliverance of the control of Shanghai in the hands of the son of Chang Tso Lin may have serious consequences as there is strong support in Shanghai for the Cantonese cause. It is also doubtful whether the thousands of deserters from Sun Chuan Fang's forces will respond to the call of the new leader.

A stern military rule in and around the city is expected from now on. Chang Tso Lin has often voiced his opposition to the presence of foreign troops in Shanghai and it is possible that his son will not be as lenient today to the foreigners as his predecessor was.

The rout of Sun Chuan Fang's troops continued today with the Cantonese driving forward with repeated thrusts. His men were forced to evacuate Kashing, falling back to Sunkiang, about 30 miles from Shanghai.

Executions in the city have ended and many of the strikers returned to work today. About 90,000 men are still idle.

Athletes Are Superior To Class Mates

(By Universal Service)
BERKELEY, Feb. 23.—Contrary to general beliefs, which hold that outside activities lower scholarship standing, college athletes are superior in scholarship to their classmates.

This was indicated by a report made public today by Professor Earl J. Miller, dean of men at the University of California at Los Angeles, who has just completed a study of the scholarship of 1954 male students for the year 1925-26. The study shows that all the men students made an average grade of 1.21 out of a possible 3.00. The 99 students engaged in minor sports, such as swimming, wrestling, track and boxing, rolled up the highest average grade, 1.33.

The group of 540 students participating in athletics and other campus activities established an average grade of 1.27. The average grade for those not in outside activities was only 1.16.
